General Tracey has been very active in opposing the free coinage of silver, and it is thought that this is the basis for the erroneous impression prevailing in the North Carolina alliances that he introduced last suring a force bill. It is said that in nearly all the alliances of the State the belief is that he had taken this position, and as they are so ardent in their demands for free silver they do not take kindly to the Alliany member. POPULAB RIECTION OF SENATORS.

Committee on Election of President, &c., the joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment for the election of senators by popular vote.

Mr. Tucker, of Virginia, made a very able speech upon a legal line in favor of the bill. He contended that the change proposed had the sanction of almost universal popular demand. The legislature, being a body of limited membership, was amenable to the corrupting power of monopoles and corporations. This was illustrated in the prayer of a chaplain of one of the State legislatures when ne said: "Oh Lord, Thou knowest that the people of this State look upon this Legislature with suspicion," [Applause.] Legislature with suspicion," [Applause.] Legislative scandals in the election of senators had been published for so long that it seemed to be recognized in some localities that bribery and corruption were fast becoming a part of the legislative functions. In those localities money rather than head was regarded as the requirement of a senator. Public sentiment had at length been aroused and demanded that a change should be made. Power and responsibility should go together.

BIRECT EESPONSIBILITY NEEDED.

"There should be a responsibility that was direct. To-day a senator was answerable for his conduct to no one. The legislature that elected him changed its membership three times during his term of service. He came back asking re-election from another legislature composed of almost entirely new men. His pledges to the body that elected him in the first instance were not binding on the new legislature. He (Mr. Tucker) pleaded that a man who was to represent the people in the Senate must be made to feel his responsibility to them directly, and not through a legislature. The creature—the legislature was not the equal of the creator—the people. The plan proposed preserved the State as the unit of representation in the Senate and at the same time left the choice to the people, who are the sovereign power in the State." MR. TUCKER CONGRATULATED.

MR. TUCKER CONGRATULATED.

Mr. Tucker was listened to with the greatest attention, and at the conclusion of his speech received warm congratulations upon his maiden effort. He is forcible in his delivery and graceful in his gestures—in both those points resembling his distinguished father.

The debate was continued by Messrs, Bushnell of Wisconsin, Henderson of Iowa, Cummings, Gantz, Doane, Babbitt, Herrmann, Fowers, Lauham, Bryan, and Chipman, the latter of whom demanded the previous question.

SPICE BETWEEN SPEAKER AND EX-SPEAKER.

Pending this Mr. Reed moved a recess until 4:50, and a somewhat spley talk ensued between the Speaker and Mr. Reed, the evident purpose of the latter being to kill time, and the object of the Speaker being to prevent the murder.

Finally the Speaker, after receiving Mr. Chipman's motion, recegnized the motion made by Mr. Reed. Then Mr. Burrows suggested that the recess should be until 5 o'clock. Mr. Burrows's motion was lost-yeas 56,

Several telegrams, evidently written before noon, were signed by W. B. Heyburn, an attorney, now at Spokane, Washington, who represented the mining company in the legal proceedings which were had previous to the present difficulty. These telegrams said: "If the lives of our men at Wardner are to be saved there is not an hour to delay. No orders yet." Outing Cloths Marked Down.

We never had a better or prettier as-sortment of Outing and Flannelletts than we've had this season, but it is a common and almost unavoidable error in dealing too heavily in such departments, We have too many Outings, Flannel-letts, Cordaroys, &c., at 124c. a yard; therefore we reduce the entire lot to-day

It is too hot to become excited over little things, but a little ripple of excitement won't hurt you. Just nerve yourself up to receive an extraordinary nouncement: We are selling $20, $15, and $12 Suits for $10. Give us your candid opinion of those figures, they down low enough to suit you? you think that they could very well be lower? They have never been anything like as low before, and it isn't at all likely that they will ever be anything like as low again. To let such a chance as this pass is like deliberately shutting your eyes when fortune comes along to shower her favors on you.

THERD-PARTYISM IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Considerable talk is heard here regarding the Third-party movement in North Carolina. Representative Bunn thinks it would be very formidable if the election were to be held now, but before November he believes the movement will be checked and the tide stemmed.

Representative Henderson says he thinks the people of the State will look at the situation in the proper light, and if there are three tickets in the field he is confident the Democrats will win. If the Republicans were to decline to run a ticket and should endorse the People's-party ticket, then there would be dauger. But this is not likely to happen. The old-line Democrats will not throw their votes away, nor will they countenance anything that will help the Republicans to capture the electoral vote.
